Webster calls a circle a group of people sharing a common interest. It's easy to see how this definition applies to our school. We have all shared a common high school experience. However, there are differing elements which have made up this experience. These inner circles are all independent, vital groups and their actions create the pulse of our school. The first smaller circle is the faculty. You can see their circle on Monday mornings in the teacher's room. They sit happily eating doughnuts and talking of their latest game of Trivial Pursuit. Once the teachers leave this room, though, they involve themselves in other circles. The next circle is sports and activities. Whether we huddle in a football game or debate the question of nuclear war, we all become more aware of the world in which we live. The students make up the largest circle in the school. We have our friendship, our language, and our own style. We are a circle shaded by many individual colors.

At eight o'clock each weekday morning, these three circles join together to form the large circle, our school. We chose the circle to symbolize the unity of the school. We are individuals, but we are all striving for similar goals. In these ways, the circle seemed to best represent this unity.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Everyone enjoys a turn in the spotlight, and the 1985 Junior Talent Show was no exception. The show was run by our four M.C.'s, Doug Hanchett, Ed Hutner, Darrin MacConnell, and Todd Salmonson. Musical highlights of the evening included Irene Vail, Marianne Neilsen, and the Westboro Blues, not to mention Joe Federman and the Evolution. At right, Erin Sullivan and Stacey Guagnini wait backstage before their dance act ("Jungle Love") with Penny Smith. As for comedy, both junior girls and guys provided plenty of that. Carolyn Breen (center right) does her imitation of our favorite chemistry teacher, in the junior girl's act "What a Wonderful World." The junior guys, however, were led by Tom Schaefer in a chorus of "What I Like About You", then proceeded to show us new meanings of the word "shape-up." All in all, the talent show demonstrated the hidden talent of Westboro students.

The M.C.'s really get into the act!

FORMING A NEW CIRCLE

Yearbook is one of the smaller circles that make up the school. This group began to come together over a year ago, after many meetings and discussions.

Eventually, we decided on our theme, Circles. To unite the group, and to raise money, we had a carwash/bakesale last June. It was a great success, even though we did eat most of the cookies. We've also planned for a group trip to Boston.

We had many ideas for this yearbook, and we hope they've worked out well. There are a lot of people who deserve a great deal of thanks. First, our business editor, Gretchen Reents ("Miss Juice"), who sold all the ads ahead of time and relentlessly filled the juice machine. Also, Matt Swett and Kristin Macek, photo editors, who've done a terrific job taking circular pictures; and our art staff, Ed Turner, Michelle Baliunas, Steph Foulke, and Jon Pehl, for their absolutely fantastic artwork. Finally, thanks to Mr. Kaplan, who's kept us running around in circles. Thanks to the entire staff for working so hard!!

Lynne and Sue

Life at Westboro High often goes in cycles Students at each stage are easily identified by attitude and appearance. For example, the average student on a Monday morning is not too wide awake. Most of us are recovering from an exhausting weekend and we need to catch up on our sleep. Scott Smith takes a short cat nap in above right picture.

By Wednesday, most students have revived themselves and can manage a pretty smile like Penny Pano's, (far left). Others seem to be a little bored. Dina Baretti is a good example of this.

However, when Friday finally arrives after a long week, a bizarre transformation occurs; students begin to act rather strangely. Exhaustion and boredom are replaced by hyperactivity. Kelly McNamara pops unexpectedly in front of our lens in the far left picture. Darrin MacConnell has dressed for a night out on the town, and Andy Foster can only stare blankly at the camera. At any time of the week, Westboro High school students are definitely interesting.

TOP HATS AND SKIRTS

The night of May 18 arrived and the long-awaited Junior Prom finally came. We all made many preparations for this big event. Girls put their dresses on layaway in November while the guys strolled into Mr. Tux on May 15. Many of us made dinner reservations at Duca's, some at the Honolulu, while others lounged by the pool. After dinner, we all went back to the high school lobby and danced to the tunes of Down East. Girls took off their shoes and guys loosened their cummerbunds. By ten o'clock we all gathered around the fountain to quench our thirst and watch the picking of the court. This year we had both a King and a Queen. Joe McGrady was chosen as King and Carol Burman became our Queen. The night's festivities began to wind down and it was time for the romantic theme song. Even though the band didn't know "What I Like About You," Ed Hutner saved the night with the casette version. We all left our Junior Prom on an upbeat note and with many good memories.

A SPECIAL DEDICATION

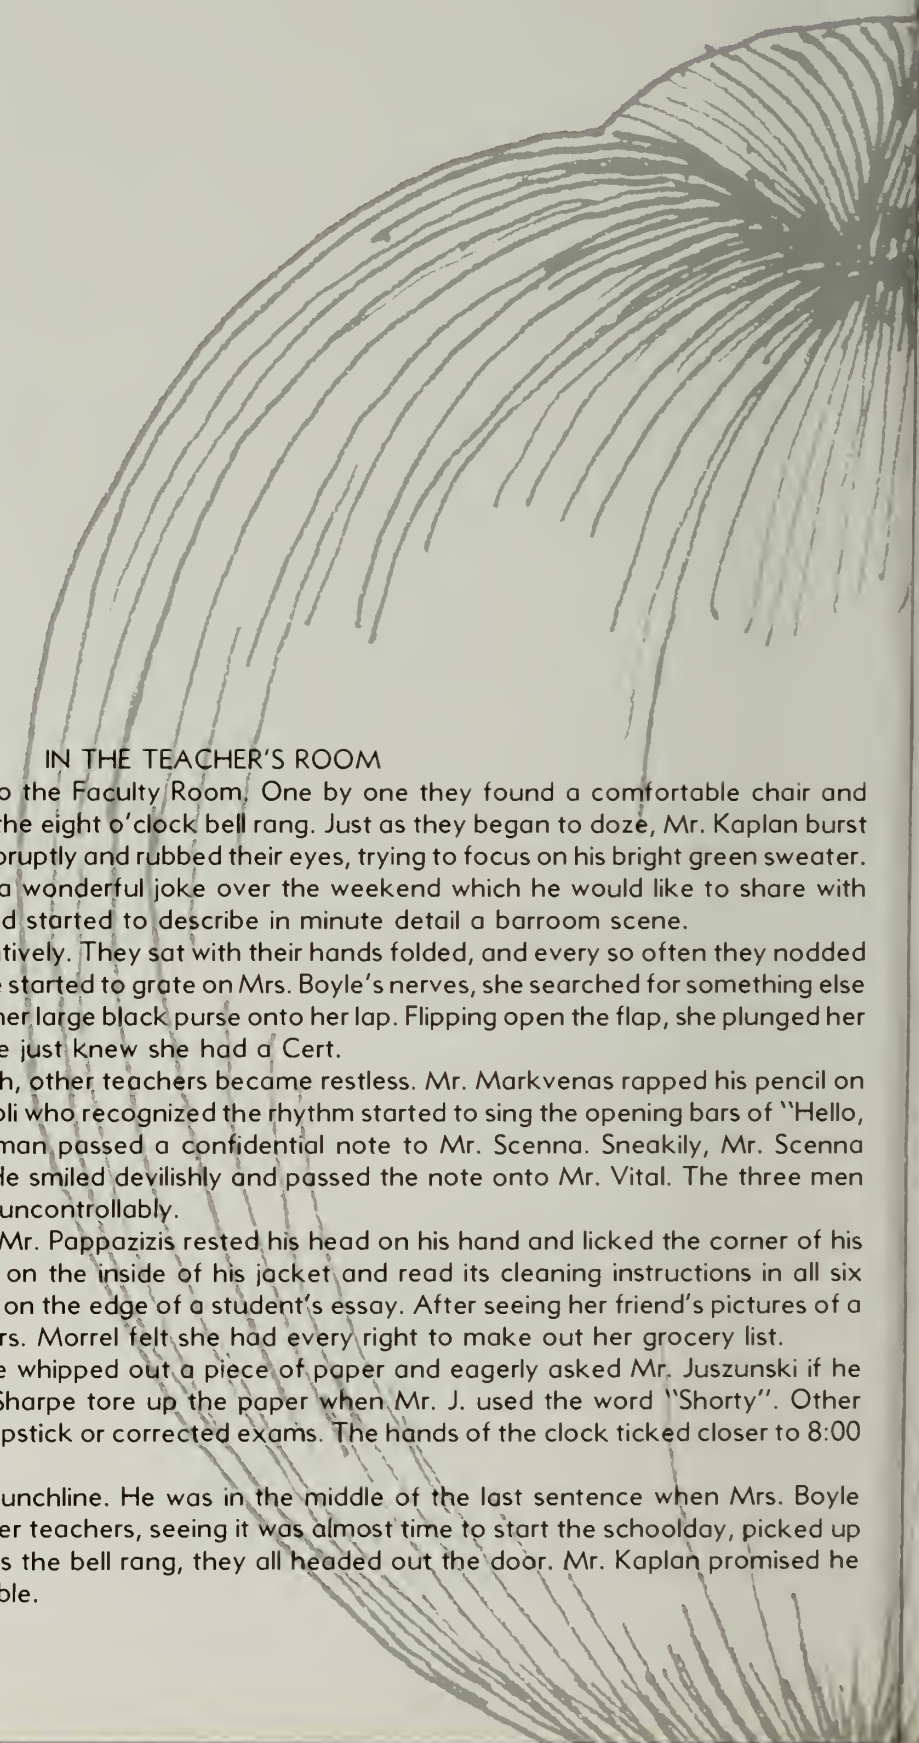
The class of 1986 would like to take this opportunity to thank our principal, Mr. Vail for his dedication to Westboro High School. As principal, he has been responsible for growth in the music and athletic programs. Mr. Vail has also maintained high standards in academics. His encouragement of clubs has given the students a better understanding of the world around them. He has played a key role in contributing to the students' complete and well-rounded education. For this reason, we are saying a special thank-you to Mr. Vail.

A COMMON CENTER

Centerpoint

The Class of 1986 would like to dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Betty George. Through her hard work, helpful advice and patience, she has earned the respect of our entire class. As a teacher, Mrs. George has taught us to think logically and to discover some of the answers to the questions of the scientific world. Beyond her role of teacher, she has also acted as our class advisor. We greatly appreciate her time given and her organizational help in such successful class projects as the Junior Talent Show, and the Junior Prom. We sincerely thank Mrs. George for her dedication to our class.

FACULTY



IN THE TEACHER'S ROOM

Slowly, the teachers straggled into the Faculty Room. One by one they found a comfortable chair and settled down for a short nap before the eight o'clock bell rang. Just as they began to doze, Mr. Kaplan burst into the room. The teachers sat up abruptly and rubbed their eyes, trying to focus on his bright green sweater. Mr. Kaplan declared he had heard a wonderful joke over the weekend which he would like to share with everyone. He ignored the grunts and started to describe in minute detail a barroom scene.

At first, the teachers listened attentively. They sat with their hands folded, and every so often they nodded their heads. But as Mr. Kaplan's voice started to grate on Mrs. Boyle's nerves, she searched for something else to keep her busy. She hoisted her rather large black purse onto her lap. Flipping open the flap, she plunged her hand deep into its black depths. She just knew she had a Cert.

As Mrs. Boyle continued her search, other teachers became restless. Mr. Markvenas rapped his pencil on the table a few times, and Mr. Cerasoli who recognized the rhythm started to sing the opening bars of "Hello, Dolly". Across the table, Mr. Heckman passed a confidential note to Mr. Scenna. Sneakily, Mr. Scenna opened the folded piece of paper. He smiled devilishly and passed the note onto Mr. Vital. The three men looked at one another and giggled uncontrollably.

Some teachers were not so lively. Mr. Pappazizis rested his head on his hand and licked the corner of his moustache. Mr. LaBrie found a tag on the inside of his jacket and read its cleaning instructions in all six languages. And Mr. Trahan doodled on the edge of a student's essay. After seeing her friend's pictures of a Christmas tree and flying saucer, Mrs. Morrel felt she had every right to make out her grocery list.

Mr. Kaplan droned on. Mr. Sharpe whipped out a piece of paper and eagerly asked Mr. Juszunski if he wanted to play Hangman. But Mr. Sharpe tore up the paper when Mr. J. used the word "Shorty". Other teachers blew their noses, reapplied lipstick or corrected exams. The hands of the clock ticked closer to 8:00 AM.

Finally, Mr. Kaplan came to the punchline. He was in the middle of the last sentence when Mrs. Boyle shouted, "I found my Cert!" The other teachers, seeing it was almost time to start the schoolday, picked up their brief cases and canvas bags. As the bell rang, they all headed out the door. Mr. Kaplan promised he would finish his joke at the lunch table.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE: Dr. Kelleher, Mr. Baker, Mr. Willis, Ms. Gress, Ms. Whiteside, Mr. Cowles, Ms. Ingerman, Ms. Bentley, Dr. Malone, Ms. Cizauskus

THE CENTER CIRCLE

To the Class of 1986:

Thoughts of circles:

Doughnut holes; circumference; radius; points equidistant from the center; Town rotary; rotary in front of school. Pebbles in water and ever-widening concentric circles; and the circle of friends, too, is ever-widening. Go to Fales or Hastings, become tangent at Armstrong. Arrive at the High School — four classes and again a widening of the circles of friends, both peer and faculty.

The circles contract: Senior Power. Our Senior Play. The Yearbook staff — running around in circles meeting deadlines! Our Graduation on June 1 — the closest circle of all.

Then the circles will expand to include jobs, further education, new friends. May the new circles be both rewarding and fulfilling, but, if sometimes restrictive and difficult, perhaps the optimist's view of the lowly doughnut will help to keep a positive out look for new circles to conquer:

"As you ramble on through Life, Brother,

"Whatever be your goal.

"Keep your eye upon the doughnut,

"And not upon the hole!"

Good luck, Class of '86, and Goodbye!

J. Robert Vail

Principal

TO: THE CLASS OF 1986

It has been a pleasure for me to work with this year's Senior Class over the past two years.

As Acting Assistant Principal, I have taken on the task of my two jobs (Coordinator of Physical Education, Health and Athletics also) with the same enthusiasm and concern that Mr. Kirby always showed for his students. Best of Luck to all members of the class of 1986!

Coach Mewhiney

After twenty years as Superintendent of Schools in Westborough, Dr. Edward Kelleher is retiring. Over his many years as Superintendent he has overseen many improvements in the Westborough school system. During his administration, the present Senior High School and the Hastings Elementary School were built, as well as an addition to the Junior High School. Many new programs have been introduced at the High School, such as new athletic programs, the AP program, a computer education program, SCAT, and departmentalization. The guidance and pupil personnel system has been greatly expanded. The school budgeting system and the teacher evaluation have been recognized by the Department of Education. As he leaves the Westborough school system for retirement, we would like to express our gratitude for all he has done for us.

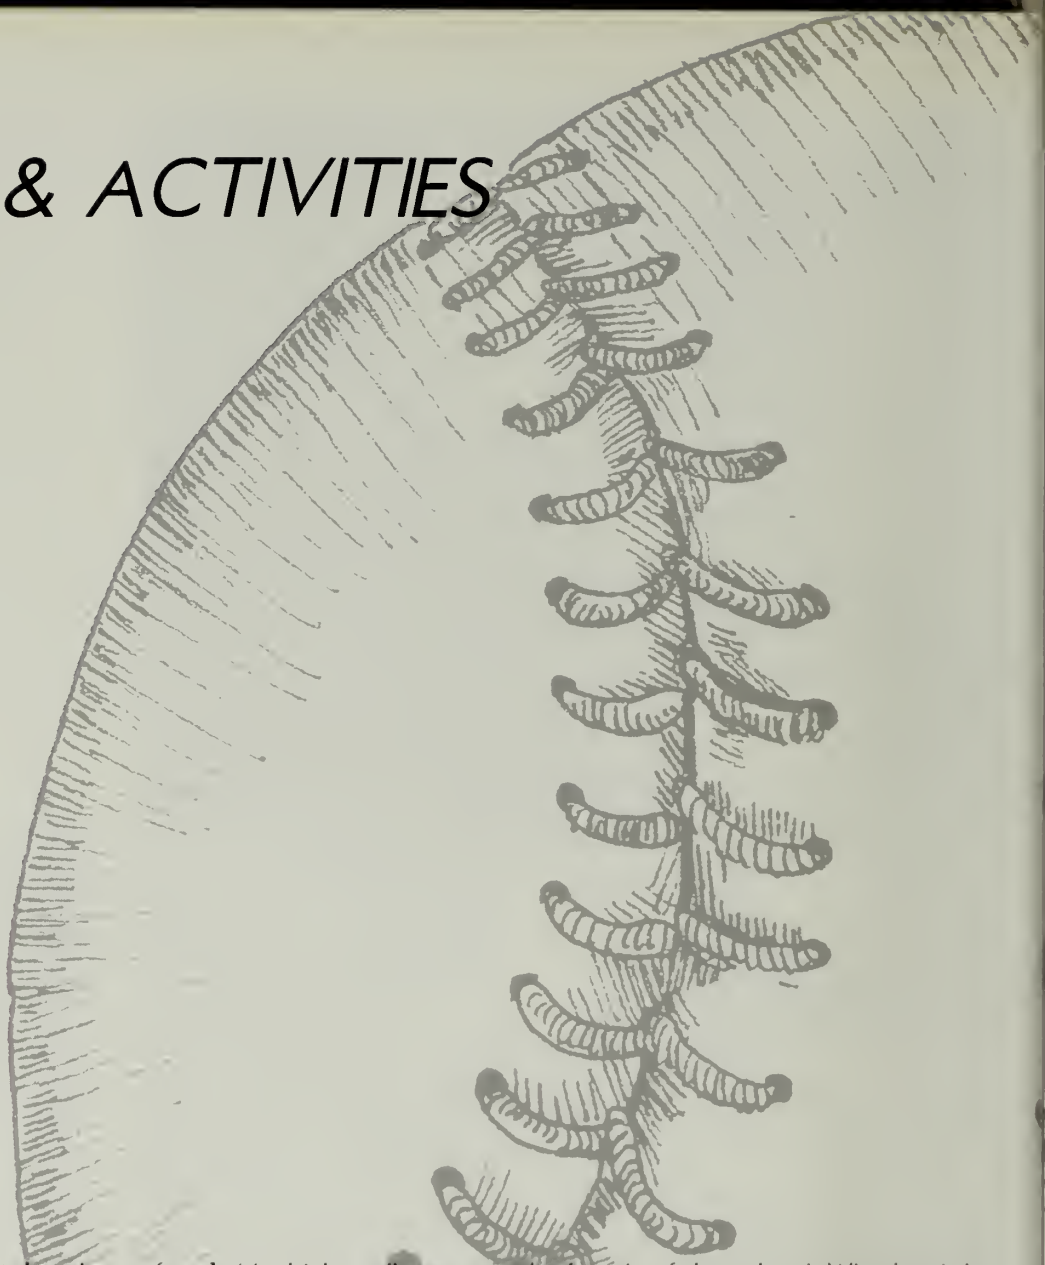
SPORTS & ACTIVITIES



It is the activities which take place after 1:44 which really cement the bonds of the school. Whether it be marching band or volleyball, sports and activities form the larger circle of the school, uniting freshmen through seniors into one group. Clubs are especially popular with freshmen. This may be due to the fact that an AFS meeting is much more attractive prospect than the "horrors" of homeroom. However, by sophomore and junior year, students have discovered much more — shall we say — creative methods of escaping homeroom, and spend much of each activity hanging out in the auditorium, the gym, or on the balconies. But with the close of the junior year, kids seem to rediscover clubs like Morpheus and Model Congress. The threat of an empty college application provides the incentive this time, and seniors are devoted club members, on paper at least.

Athletics are part of this large circle. Although some members of our yearbook staff (certain editors who shall remain nameless) are no varsity athletes, we can give you a view of sports from the spectators' perspective. It's easy for us outsiders to tell who the athletes are. In the fall, volleyball and soccer shirts, as well as field hockey skirts and cheerleading sweaters, abound, and separate the jocks from the non-jocks. In the winter the habit of wearing uniforms on the day of a game drops off. School spirit succumbs to comfort, as it gets a little nippy wearing basketball shorts in January. Sports at Westboro are as much of a social event as an athletic contest. Football games in the fall, as well as basketball and hockey in the winter, get big crowds, although quite a few kids aren't playing close attention to the game. You can tell these fans by the way they occasionally interrupt their conversations to yell 'Yea team' and look vaguely in the direction of the game. Even if some fans are a little hazy on the game itself, every athletic event unifies the school, and assembles students into one group. In this way, sports complete the circle of the school.

POWER: IT'S INVINCIBLE

SPIRALS

The 1985 Ranger Football Team, defenders of the Central Massachusetts Division I Championship, showed what hard work and determination was needed to defend such a title. Led by head coach, Jan Gebo, and assistant coaches, Marty Hayes, Mike Healy, and Jay Tortora, the Rangers were on a mission to secure their title. The outcome was unknown until the last play had been played and the final game was over.

The Ranger's season was filled with many thrilling moments despite the assortment of injuries which hit the team hard. Led by Tri-Captains, Eric Berquist, Peter Landry, and Tom Schaefer, the team was forced to use a lot of new faces, including Juniors Ron Tebo, Carl Johnson, and Jason Lanzetta, as well as Sophomore Bob Haynes. The Rangers also counted on big plays from returning starters Joe McGrady and Tim Twombly and the upcoming skills of Marc Clifford and Bob Cove. One of the highlights of the season was the convincing 21-0 win over Hudson, who had been on a winning streak until our Rangers stopped them dead in their tracks. Unfortunately, in front of their hometown crowd the Rangers lost the duties of defensive leader, Joe O'Brien due to a severely broken leg. However, the team has managed to keep close and keep in high spirits through the efforts of a terrific Senior leader, Jeff Koroski. The will to succeed to improve as individuals as well as a whole team, was displayed by each member of this team on a daily basis, especially Kevin Ulhman.

FACE-OFF

To the Field Hockey Team,

Well you guys, we had a heck of a season, and an unforgettable one at that. There were a lot of laughs and a lot of bruises. Although we weren't number one according to the midland league, we topped the charts when it came to decorating the coaches' houses, stealing pumpkins, and even slurping spaghetti.

We had a sensational season, and we'll never forget you. Thanks for making our senior year in field hockey a great one. To top it off we even went to districts!! We sure gave North Middlesex a run for their money as we scored the first unforgettable goal of the game.

Good Luck next year! Beat Maynard!!

Love,

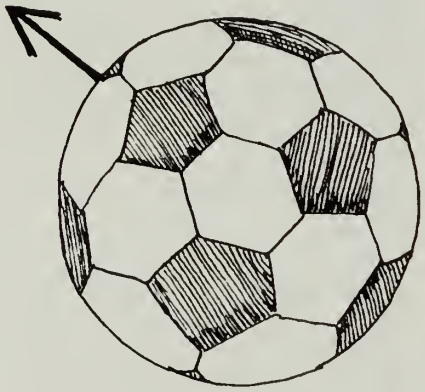
Nancy and Carolyn

Captains; Carolyn Breen and Nancy Scott

CENTER KICK

The 1985 Boy's Soccer Team opened the season with an exciting 1-0 win over Holy Name, but the rest of the season went against the Rangers. However, their final record of 2-10-2 does not show the actual talent and effort of the team. It also does not show the true ability and effort of first year Coach, George Kent. Though the team in general didn't do well, many individuals had an excellent season.

Tri-Captains, Paul Anderson, Ed Powers, and Mike Johnson managed to display their talents again and again. First year player, Adam Thompson, was a key defensive player for the Rangers as were underclassmen, Rob True and Carl Joechal. Unfortunately Justin Leland was injured during the season and unable to play in the Ranger's remaining games. The team will be losing only six seniors, so next year's team, led by Craig Martin, should prove to be an excellent one.



Captains: Mike Johnson and Paul Anderson

OFF THE HEAD

It was an encouraging season for the girls soccer team, who finished off the season with a 3-12 record. The improvement of the girls' individual and teamwork skills was displayed by their three wins, which were so earnestly achieved. Despite the immense losses of previous seasons, many of the girls quickly adopted the attitude of a winning team. This attitude also helped to keep their spirits high throughout the losses.

Co-captains Beth Viscardi and Karen McLaughlin courageously led the team through many mud fights, pasta parties and above all, "WIPES." The quick forward line, consisting of Laura Stone, Beth Viscardi, and Beth Hanlon, scored many of there 20 goals on breakaway plays. Melissa Wolf, with Booster spirit, and Dina Barretti led the midfield line. The teams defensive line was strengthened by Chris Chouinard and new comers Marianne Jankauskas and goalie Terri Balser. The team would sincerely like to thank Coach Lowbridge for his extreme dedication to the girls soccer program, from which we have learned very much. The seniors would like to wish the team luck and to "Go Forth" and achieve success in next years season.

AROUND THE TRACK

Senior tri-captains Dan Bean, Mike Hopkins, and Dan Sullivan led the 1985 Cross Country team to a 7-5 record. Mike Hopkins was the first for Westboro for most of the season, while the rest of the team "packed it in" to win 7 meets. Although the team is losing three seniors, Coach Masters has high hopes for next year. There were many injuries during the season, such as sprained ankles, pulled muscles, and a broken thumb. Many more injuries may have happened if it wasn't for the use of "Sparky Packets." If these had not been invented it could have been a very painful season.

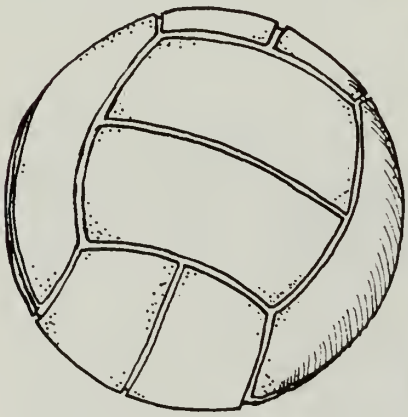
WESTBOROUGH

LAPS

This year's girl's Cross Country team with a 9-3 record, did a super job, thanks to Coach John Doyle. We were led by our #1 roadrunner Donna Straight; she's unbelievable. The coyote, Michelle Baliunas, came close to catching her many times this year. After our favorite invalid, Kim Cove, had to leave us, Debbie Powell was the only Junior left to spell our synchronized gymnastic stretching. Unpredictable (yak) Sam Brown did great as usual, as did her sophomore companions, Betsy Stone, the smiley face of the bunch, Laura Lightbody, our gullible buddy, and Camille Vaughn who danced her way through the season. We can't forget Katie Cox who was always shooting her foot before practice. The freshman Kate Thomas (how's Tim?) is sneaking up to the top. Our Cheerleader, Holly Lightbody, always had a reason to cheer when Melissa Foss showed us one of her strong finishes. Sherri Conna and Melissa Turner made up a twosome which showed top effort. Thanks everyone for a great season.

ROTATIONS

This year's varsity volleyball team ended its season with a respectable 7-7 record, thanks to Miss Corcoran and the boys J.V. Soccer team (Hudson). MISS McDonald led the J.V. team to a fantastic 12-2 record. The season was successful due to the setting of Stephanie Foulke and to spikers, Denise Pratt and Sheila Walsh (when she didn't leave parts of her hand on the ball). Kate Allen's blocks, and Pam Lusek's pokes, and Angie Fernandez's serves led us to many victories. The highlight of the season was the trip to the Centrum, where we watched our future teammates — the U.S. Women's Olympic Volleyball Team — bump, set, and spike against Japan. We all left this year deaf (Mine!), bruised (Tach!), and satisfied. In short, we would like to thank Miss Corcoran and Miss McDonald for putting up with us and "blah, blah, blah, so on, and so forth."



Captains: Kate Allen and Stephanie Foulke

Somersaults

The Girls Gymnastics team underwent another building season. The team was very young due to the lack of seniors, but there were several freshmen to balance this off. Nikki Stone and Kathy Rigsbee helped the team out with their experience from earlier training, where as other sophomores and juniors were there to help the team. The girls on the team pulled together to get some wins this year and finished up second in the midland league. The gymnastics team had a lot of fun and would like to thank Mrs. B. for coaching us.

Captains: Jennifer Hall, Nikki Stone

The Rink

The Hockey team was led this year by Tri-Captains Andy Fay, Darrin McConnell and Kevin Grant, with support from returning Seniors Matt Swett, Eric Tepper and Brain Grehowski. They were led by Coach Shililie who enabled the team to have a good time on the competitive game of hockey. This year was a time for growth and adjustment. The loss of Andy Fay and other key players made the team form a closerbond and work ever harder.

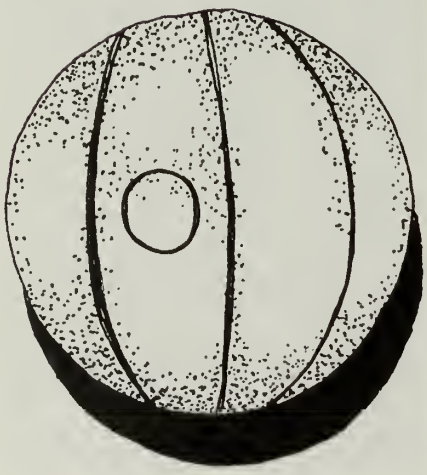
The team has a definite potential next year with returning players and support from the school.

Captains: Andy Fay, Darrin McConnell, Kevin Grant

REBOUNDS

The 1985-86 Girls Varsity Basketball team had tenacious season in general. Tri-captains Lorri Matuzek, Gretchen Reents and Megan Fay led the team with an unstoppable amount of intensity. Nancy Scott would psyche the team up by singing a verse of The Congo before entering. Monica "Reach In" Powers had an exceptional power drive when she wasn't out of the game with five fouls. Chris Judge, also called Judger, was the sharp-shooter in the crowd. We are quite proud of our record this year, and know that next season will be even more successful, with the help of two aspiring sophomores, Erika Reents and Heather Candon. Good luck next year!

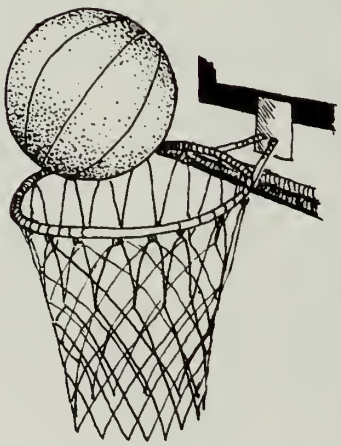
Lorri, Gretch & Meg



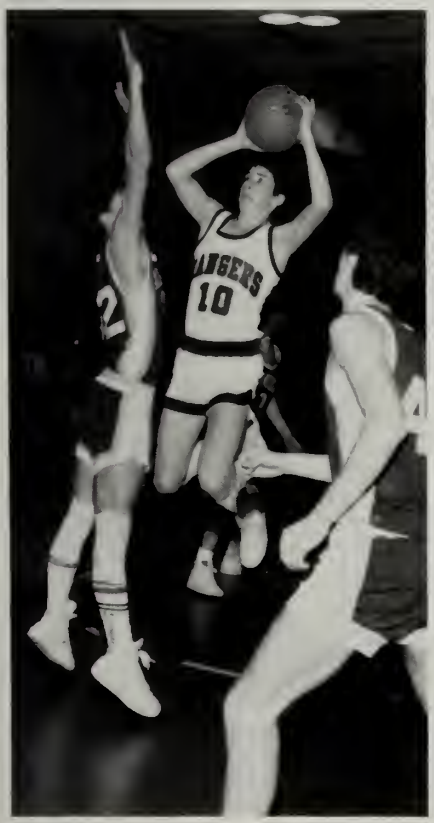
Captains: Megan Fay, Lorri Matuzek, Megan Fay

HOOPS

Following an unbelievable 22-1 season, Varsity Coach Richard LaDuke was left with no returning starters. The youthful team, with co-captains Rob Park and Tom Schaefer, had a long road ahead of them. They had a strong start beating Holy Name by a wide margin, but then had many very close losses. When the strong rebounding of Carl Joeckle and shooting of Chris Gorak came together with the other key factors, the true talent and ability of the team did come through. Keith Taylor and Chris Devaux, also made strong contributions to the Rangers' success. Though the record may not show it, the team far exceeded any of the earlier expectations. The Rangers did "sink or swim as a team."



Captains: Tom Schaefer and Rob Park



POM-POMS

Thanks to the hard work and dedication of this year's cheerleaders, school spirit has really been captured. The cheering season began in August, with cheering camp, where many new cheers were learned. The cheerleaders kept spirits high throughout football and basketball season even when things weren't going Westboro's way. The captains this year were Carol Burman and Nikki Vallee. Seniors Stacey Guagnini, Beth Harding, Kelly Harney, and Karen McKenney along with all the underclassmen, made for a memorable year. Everyone worked very hard at making a great year and an exciting season.

As tournament time draws near, the cheerleaders work hard and strive for the best. Thanks to the great ideas of this year's creative cheerleaders. The tournament cheer should prove to be the best ever. Thanks Laurie — we love ya! Good luck next year — we'll miss ya!

Love, The Seniors

POWDERPUFF

The second annual Powderpuff game was held in November of this year. The football game between the senior and junior girls benefitted young Ben Horgan. The seniors, coached for the second year in a row by Mr. Kazeirski, were the obvious favorite because of their talent and experience. But despite Beth's Viscardi's passing and running ability, the young, upstart Junior team coached by Richard LaDuke came out on top. In the end, it wasn't the score that mattered, but the fun had by all and the good cause the game benefitted.

STUDENTS

DEFINITION: Well Rounded Student — n. male or female. An adolescent between the ages of 14-18 who attends some type of high school. He or she is involved in a combination of the following items: 1) a sport — not necessarily of the contact kind, but girls find this type more attractive. 2) scholastic studies — usually entails the opening of a text book once a week and the purchase of monarch notes in place of opening a literary book. Also involves learning how to complete a 3 hour homework assignment in a 45 minute study period. 3) musical groups — can be either instrumental or vocal. Reading music is not a requirement for participation but a person must be able to wear polyester uniforms without developing a severe skin condition. 4) Clubs — can range from serious political organizations such as Model Congress to fun, casual groups such as square dancing or cake decorating. Must occur between 1:45 and 2:22 to allow students to escape homeroom. 5) Friendships — relationships which have grown since a young age and have formed a close circle whose bond will last beyond our memorable high school years.

Thomas Schaefer — replaces William Perry and becomes "The Refrigerator II".

In 1996, we'll all meet once again for our tenth reunion. The yearbook staff was curious as to how our class would turn out. So we hired a psychic to predict the future of our class. These were some of her predictions:

Beth Viscardi — (top left) replaces Coach Gebo
Kelly MacNamara + Carol Barnhart open a hair-dying salon.
Chrissy Brady — becomes the new Richard Simmons
Caroline Breen — gets taken away in a strait-jacket with Ed Hutner.
Kenny Cleveland + Ewen Camron — open their own home movie center.
Pam Lusek + Justin Leland — run marriage encounters.
Stephanie Folke — creates the Folke Dating Service with Leslie.
Karen Gagnon — becomes a model for GQ
Doug Hanchett — (bottom left) replaces Pat Sajak on the Wheel of Fortune.
Beth Harding — becomes mute.
Meg Killeen — becomes a truant officer.
Sue Maloney — puts her red "nighty" to good use.
Gretchen Reents — has her foot surgically removed from her mouth
David Benton — (bottom left) becomes the new Clint Eastwood.
Paul Anderson + Adam Thompson — are voted Time Magazine's Men of the Year.
John Pehl — (near left) becomes a Board of Health Inspector.
Mark Clifford + Bob Cove — become reporters for the National Enquirer.
Todd Salmonson — (top left) wins Megabucks and you know the rest.
Irene + friends — (bottom center) have leading roles in the new Rocky Horror Picture Show.
Marianne Jankauskas + Debbie Longo — buy LOWE'S and become townies with the rest of the guys Sterling Borglund — becomes the new Joan Rivers.

Patrons

Without the generous help of our sponsors, who donated so much, our yearbook would not be so special — so memorable. This page has been set aside to show our gratitude and sincere appreciation. Everytime we open to this page, we will remember all those who helped make our circle complete.

Thank you,

"Who cares what it looks like as long as it's on time!" Nice trip! Huh, guys? Juice Machine Club. No, Mr. Kaplan — we don't want SEMICIRCLES! Faculty candids — what for? Yes, we'll put up the LADDER DIAGRAM. Superlative pizza at Sue's. Can I buy a yearbook? SIS at HALLOWEEN DANCE. Can you think of anything circular? Final deadline — Will we make it? Miss Juice. Who's day is it for the JUICE MACHINE?? The Editors' Last Quote: "!@#$%¢&* IT ALL!"

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up hill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must, but don't you quit.
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out;
Don't give up though the pace seems slow —
You may succeed with another blow.
Success is failure turned inside out —
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell just how close you are,
It may be near when it seems so far;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit —
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit.

Amy, Hey!
What a year, huh?
It's been pretty fun!
I'm super glad we are friends. You're really fun to be around.
Never forget the guys at the gas station + that whole day. I can't believe we skipped. How about the limo? Pretty bad concert! You're the first person I ever eat (woops! ate) Chinese food with. We're going to have a blast at Prom!
And you better keep in touch over the summer!

Love/Friendship
Always,
Janet
